HUBZone on the Rise

Building America's Next 250 Years

2026 National HUBZone Conference

EXECUTIVE INTRODUCTION

As America prepares to celebrate its 250th Anniversary, our nation has an opportunity to reflect on the ingenuity, resilience, and entrepreneurial spirit that have shaped our history—while looking ahead to the challenges and opportunities that will define our future.

For nearly three decades, the HUBZone Program has demonstrated that investing in underserved communities creates jobs, strengthens local economies, and expands opportunities for America's small businesses. Today, those businesses play an increasingly important role in supporting domestic manufacturing, strengthening critical supply chains, advancing innovation, and helping federal agencies accomplish their missions.

The 2026 National HUBZone Conference will launch HUBZone on the Rise—a collaborative initiative bringing together government, industry, academia, workforce organizations, investors, nonprofits, and small businesses. At the center are five Executive Think Tanks designed to transform conversations into collaboration and collaboration into action.

THE HUBZONE PROGRAM: A FOUNDATION FOR ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

Since its creation by Congress in 1997, the Historically Underutilized Business Zone (HUBZone) Program has served as one of the federal government's most important economic development initiatives.

The program was established to encourage private investment, stimulate economic growth, and create sustainable employment opportunities in communities that have historically faced economic challenges.

For nearly thirty years, HUBZone-certified businesses have provided products and services supporting virtually every federal mission, including defense, cybersecurity, construction, energy, healthcare, manufacturing, information technology, engineering, logistics, transportation, and emergency response.

Today, the importance of the HUBZone Program extends beyond contracting preferences.

HUBZone businesses represent a vital component of America's industrial base, workforce, supply chain resilience, and economic competitiveness.

As our nation looks toward the next 250 years, the opportunity is not simply to increase contracting opportunities—it is to leverage the HUBZone network as a catalyst for innovation, investment, workforce development, and public-private collaboration.

HUBZone on the Rise represents that next chapter.

THE WHOLE TEAM APPROACH

America's greatest achievements have always required collaboration. From building our transportation systems to advancing medical breakthroughs, strengthening national defense, and expanding American manufacturing, success has depended upon government, industry, educators, investors, and entrepreneurs working together toward common objectives.

The Whole Team Approach recognizes that today's challenges are too interconnected for organizations to work in isolation. Instead, meaningful progress occurs when diverse stakeholders align their expertise, resources, and missions around shared priorities.

The HUBZone on the Rise initiative brings together:

- Federal Agencies
- State and Local Government
- Industry Leaders
- Prime Contractors
- HUBZone Small Businesses
- Investors and Financial Institutions
- Universities and HBCUs
- Community Colleges
- Workforce Development Organizations
- Economic Development Partners
- Nonprofit Organizations

Together, these partners create an ecosystem capable of identifying practical solutions while expanding economic opportunity throughout underserved communities.

Stronger Partnerships. Stronger Communities. Stronger America.

HUBZONE THINK TANKS

The Executive Think Tanks are the cornerstone of the HUBZone on the Rise initiative. Unlike traditional conference breakout sessions, these executive collaboration environments are designed to facilitate strategic dialogue, encourage cross-sector partnerships, and generate actionable recommendations.

THE EXECUTIVE SUITE EXPERIENCE

MORNING SESSION

Executive Engagement

During the morning hours, Executive Suites are available for scheduled one-on-one meetings, customer engagements, investor discussions, agency introductions, capability briefings, strategic partner meetings, and business development activities.

This provides sponsoring organizations with a private setting to engage directly with key decision-makers and conference participants.

AFTERNOON SESSION

HUBZone Think Tanks

Each afternoon, the Executive Suites transform into facilitated Think Tanks where invited leaders collaborate around one of the conference's five strategic focus areas.

These discussions are designed to identify opportunities, strengthen partnerships, and encourage continued collaboration beyond the conference.

EVENING OPPORTUNITIES

Private Executive Networking

Select partnership levels include private executive networking receptions, invitation-only industry briefings, executive lunches, and customer appreciation events.
